About West Baltimore Help

West Baltimore Help (www.westbaltimorehelp.org) is a non-profit that helps out folks who need a little Help in Baltimore by:

- Delivering bougie lunches, Pizza & Pepsi dinners, fresh bakery products, coffee and so forth to the street a few times a week.
- Setting up misting stations in busy alleys in the summer months where we hold picnics with fresh fruit and lemonade while folks cool off.
- Sharing hot food, coats, gloves, hoodies, sleeping bags, emergency blankets and a car to warm up in when temperatures fall - day and night.
- Triaging folks for signs of immobility, open wounds/infections, cardiopulmonary issues, domestic violence, burns, swelling, etc., and developing and executing care plans with them.
- Transporting the most ill to emergency hospital care in a fraction of the time (and cost) it would take for an ambulance.
- Providing pre- and post- hospital care rehab care for folks suffering from infections to amputations for stays from a few days to several months.
- Sharing this West Baltimore Help Help Guide with anyone who asks and on-line.
- Helping folks get on their feet, off the streets, into a job, and reunited with their loved ones.

We save hospitals, police and fire departments money by directing Patients with minor medical problems away from hospital emergency departments and to clinics and medical trailers where their needs will be better met at lower costs, eliminating countless purposeless "emergency" calls.

We've been awarded both the President's Volunteer Service (Gold) Award, the highest award in the nation for volunteer service, and the Visionary Award from Happy Helpers for the Homeless, who have been helping folks in east Baltimore for over 33 years.

Help With This Guide

Welcome to the Help Guide. Hopefully it helps you out. Few things:

- Organizations in BOLD can hook you up to other resources beyond their own, so you should call them first. They can help with navigating stuff.
- The Guide can be found @ westbaltimorehelp.org. If you need some help navigating it, text me (410 279 3576) with what you need and I'll see what I can do.
- If you see any errors (and I am sure there are many) please let me know, Ted.

WEST BALTIMORE HELP GUIDE

Overdoses - What to Do - Benzodiazepines, Cocaine, Fentanyl, Medetomidine, Xylazine

If someone is breathing slow/shallow, they feel cold, and/or are cold/clammy to the touch, their lips and/or fingernails turn blue, and/or they convulse or become unresponsive to your touch, pain or your voice, they are likely overdosing on one, some or all the drugs above. Call 911 and administer Narcan in all cases (see Narcan Training in this Guide) and if they are not responding to Narcan, give them rescue breaths to promote breathing. Narcan does not reverse effects of Benzodiazepines (a GABA-A receptor), Cocaine (a reuptake inhibitor), Xylazine or Medetomidine (sedatives), only Fentanyl (a synthetic opioid). The only serious chance of surviving an overdose from Benzodiazepines, Cocaine, Xylazine and Medetomidine is Oxygen and rescue breathing. Oxygen is typically administered via a Bag Valve Mask (BVM) as rescue breathing carries a high risk of disease transmission via the exchange of bodily fluids, so do not expect help from strangers if you overdose. Continue to administer Narcan doses in alternating nostrils every 2-3 minutes until person responds regardless of what drug they are on. If no pulse, initiate CPR.

Beating Addiction: Stats And Alternatives

The average west Baltimorean addict shoots (mostly) Fentanyl and smokes Cocaine in excess and desperately want to stop. Those who succeed in getting out of the drug trap need parents and loved ones who understand addiction, but four out of five are estranged from their loved ones or have no living relatives. Statistically, the typical west Baltimore addict will attempt rehab and relapse nine times out of ten in the first year of recovery, and make at least five more attempts at rehab before they get “clean” (generally on Suboxone/Methadone) long term. Most will encounter multiple life-threatening infection scares, physical assaults, amputations, and/or multiple cardio-vascular problems while out of rehab and most will “shoot and smoke away” those problems (for fear of hospitals) and will overdose multiple times without medical intervention (for fear of ambulances). During relapse, all will spend their days hustling, tricking, hitting and weeping, and use drugs excessively to kill the thought and pain associated with their lives and these medical problems. Many will die. Most will run into trouble with the law, usually for low-level drug-, theft- and/or prostitution- related crimes, and do some jail time. Most put off going to rehab (for fear of the rehab and detox system) way too long. Many west Baltimoreans choose instead to check in to a hotel, move back home or go to a friend’s place, and taper their drug use slowly. The drop from sometimes hourly Fentanyl and Cocaine use on a “cold turkey” basis is too sharp of a drop in drug use for many, so detoxing, or rather "pretoxing" is a way to better the odds of success. Unfortunately doing so requires about $1,000 and one needs a very trustworthy, clean friend or family member to keep you honest, ensure you are not too sick or too well, but insists you stick to your drug tapering plan.

DETOX & TRANSITIONAL HOUSING

Get Outta Town

If you want to get and stay off drugs, you'll need to change your spaces, places and faces, so it's best to get out of Baltimore once you have detoxed. Generally speaking, if you stay in Baltimore you'll probably relapse. We included dozens of out of state Detox and Transitional Housing resources in this Guide, so consider going out of town or even out of state to get better.

INSURANCE

The federal government stopped subsidizing private health insurance in January 2026 and now requires re-enrollment every 6 months instead of annually. If you earn more than $1,800 month (plus $600 month for each family member in the case of a household), you are probably on Medicaid. If so, be aware that they are “considering” requiring 80 hours a month of “approved activities” which includes work or volunteering somewhere. There will likely be exemptions to the rule for childcare and school. The only way to find out if these changes will affect your coverage is to have a mailing address on file, so go to health.maryland.gov to update your address (see Safe Keeping section for places to send your mail). You can call 855 642 8572 for eligibility questions, and 800 284 4510 for benefits questions.

PREDATOR CAMPAIGN

Predator Campaign Mystery Solved

On March 16, 2025 West Baltimore Help was hit with an anonymous smear campaign (the “Predator Campaign”), saying of all kinds of horrible things about us on the internet. [REDACTED] [REDACTED] reached out to many of you, other volunteers I have worked with for years, our closest family friends, my professional associates, and even the fire department, with loony allegations (i.e., drug trafficking, kidnapping, harvesting body parts, etc.) and not-so-veiled threats to our safety. We have since learned that the post was from the relative of [REDACTED] [REDACTED] who angrily and bizarrely posted a rant on a Facebook group called "Missing In Baltimore" after her loved one relapsed and left the Annapolis house in February 2025. This caused our family and many of you a lot of grief and West Baltimore Help a lot of money (see our FY 2026 Annual Report at www.westbaltimorehelp.org for more on this). In January 2026, [REDACTED] [REDACTED] visited us again at the house in Annapolis and apologized, noting that her relative's mental impairment had progressed substantially in the last year. She knew about the post and "always defended" us whenever anyone asked her about the post or West Baltimore Help, and she appreciates everything our family did for her. I told her we were always available if she needed help with "a roof over her head, food in her belly, and medical care" for her, and the many others who followed in her footsteps in Annapolis. Thank you all from the bottom of our hearts for all the support we have received from all of you. The Morandin Family xo
